NOT ONE LOCAL WOMAN WAS OUT TO GREET SUFRAGETTE

Though she carried credentials as an envoy of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage and the official appeal of that organization for the defeat of Woodrow Wilson and democratic candidates for congress, Inez Milholland Boissevain, prominent New York society belle and suffragette, was not met by a single Pendleton woman when she passed through the city on No. 17 today at noon. A little group of republicans, headed by Mays or East, E. W. McCombs and E. J. Somerville were at the depot to greet her and chat with her on the prospects of a republican victory next month.

Yesterday one of the committees of the Commercial club membership campaign met at luncheon and took a straw vote. There were eight present and the vote was four to four. The waiter was called upon to decide the ballot and he cast his vote for Wilson.

AMERICAN DESTROYERS AFTER THOROUGH SEARCH FAIL TO FIND ANY TRACE OF SURVIVORS

Shipping Crooks Believe Diver May Be Lying Quietly Off Boston Water for American-Hawaiian Line in Port There. NEWPORT, Oct. 10.—Eleven American destroyers steaming five miles apart, swept the Atlantic off Nantucket hunting the Kingston's crew. Admiral Glines ordered the destroyers to resume the search at 2:20 this morning. It is admitted that this is probably useless. A gale swept the coast all night and it is not believed the crew could survive the storm in open boats. The flotilla cruised fifty-five miles north and south beyond the Nantucket shoals light ship.

QUEEN MURIEL IS WED, ROUND-UP RULER IS NOW MRS. FRANK E. CRONAN

"And they lived happily ever after." That is all that remains to be written of the romance of Miss Muriel Salling, twice queen of the Pendleton Round-Up, Queen of the Portland Rose Festival, Queen of the Columbia Highway and Queen of the Astoria Regatta, who last evening became Mrs. Frank E. Cronan, all because she has been so very much a queen. Quite without the knowledge of family or friends she was quietly married last evening at Heppner to a young Ione banker who had first seen her when she ruled over Rosaria, who first met her when she was queen of the Round-Up and who had wooed her ever since with an impetuosity that would not be denied.

The young husband of the festival queen is a brother of J. E. Cronan of Portland, who acted as admiral of the Astoria Regatta over which the Pendleton girl ruled. It was this circumstance that the younger brother used as an excuse for seeking an introduction to the Round-Up queen one evening at Happy Canyon. Apparently it was a case of mutual love at first sight. During the remainder of the Round-Up there was none so attentive to the fair ruler as the Ione courtier, and after he had returned home, he overcame the handicap of distance by means of the automobile and the telephone. Sunday morning Miss Salling left Pendleton in the Dan Smythe auto with a party of friends for Heppner.

BELIEVED ONLY 5 SHIPS WERE SUNK BY GERMAN U-BOATS, KINGSTON CREW NOT LOCATED

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Samuel J. Graham of Pittsburg, assistant United States attorney general, called upon Chairman McCormick of the democratic national committee, yesterday and laid emphasis on the dangerous doctrine being preached by Col. Roosevelt and "his proteges," Mr. Hughes. "Ex-President Roosevelt, in his Battle Creek speech, stated in connection with the anthracite coal strike, that he had arranged and instructed the general in command of the army to go there, if he so ordered, and take control of the properties and act as receiver. This would have been a gross usurpation of executive authority and a violation of the laws of the country, as only the courts have the right to appoint receivers, after a hearing.

ROOSEVELT WOULD HAVE SEIZED GERMAN SHIPS

"In this same speech, he stated that after the sinking of the Lusitania, he would have seized all of the German ships in our ports. Obviously, first, that there were three men-of-war in our ports. To have seized these ships would have been a declaration of war and Germany would have replied to it with a declaration of war. Also, to have seized the privately owned ships would have been a violation of international law, because we were at peace with Germany. It would have been a usurpation of executive authority and illegal, inasmuch as no statute of the United States gives the president the authority to do such a thing.

PLAN JUNKET TO HERMISTON SHOW

"One hundred for Hermiston!" This is the slogan of those who are trying to work up an excursion of Pendleton people to attend the annual Hog and Dairy Show at Hermiston the latter part of next week. J. V. Tallman, who has handled a number of excursions out of Pendleton, is taking it upon himself to arouse interest in Hermiston's festival. The plan is to secure a special train to take Pendleton's delegation and Mr. Tallman thinks a sufficient number of peddlers can be secured to insure the whole of Pendleton to be present and is making big preparations for entertaining visitors.

GERARD HOME BUT REFUSES DISCUSSIONS

Will Not Answer Important Question for Fear of Becoming Involved.

SURE TO RETURN TO BERLIN

Does Not Know How Long He Will Stay—Is Visibly Affected by Warm Welcome Extended by City of New York—Will See Wilson at President's Dictate.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Ambassador Gerard has arrived from Berlin aboard the Frederick Elgth. He refuses to answer any important questions. He declared even the simplest reply might involve him. "Is it true you're bringing a peace message from the kaiser?" "I cannot answer. Any question of that nature might involve me."

"It's been reported you'll not return to Germany." "I am not sure when I'll return, but it is certain I shall go back." Asked when he expected to see the president, he replied: "That's up to Wilson." He said he first learned of the submarine activities Sunday night. The steamer's wireless received the reports. The Frederick passed large field of floating oil several times.

A delegation of New York officials, including Collector of Port Malons, went down in a police boat to welcome Gerard. A revenue cutter carrying newspapers also met the steamer down the bay. A cold wind swept the water. Despite the breeze, Gerard and his wife went on deck and posed for the movies and newspaper photographers. Thirty automobiles at the dock welcomed Gerard. Acting Mayor Dowling welcomed Gerard at the city hall and gave him the keys to the city.

The ambassador was visibly affected. Tears filled his eyes as he said: "Mr. Straus, Mr. Acting Mayor and Gentlemen, on behalf of Mrs. Gerard and myself I want to extend our thanks for this reception. There is no reception like the reception of a city where a man has passed his life. No city can give a more splendid reception than New York.

"I feel highly complimented that you gentlemen should arise at this very early hour and pay us the compliment of meeting the boat. I am very glad to hear your words of praise. I thank you because you also mentioned the Berlin staff. It is largely due to the staff's devoted service that we've been able to help America and the warring nations. I only regret the staff is unable to be here also."

Former Ambassador Straus said: "Your countrymen feel the greatest pride at the magnificent manner in which you performed the exact and responsible duties when first the war started, and scores and thousands of Americans demanded your official services. We know how difficult your task was and are proud to testify and express the opinions of all America. You've performed your duties in an admirable manner as ambassador of the world's greatest neutral. You upheld the neutral, impartial spirit which America has endeavored to preserve."

KILLS PHEASANT, GETS A $250 FINE

As a result of information received from a couple of autoists yesterday from the home of Harley Yetter on Wild Horse creek was searched by the deputy game warden assisted by Special Deputy A. F. Frazier. Notwithstanding the curses and protests of the lady of the house the fresh plumes of a China pheasant were found on the premises and Mr. Yetter was taken immediately before Justice Parkes and accused with unlawfully killing the bird.

PLAN JUNKET TO HERMISTON SHOW

The defendant told a plausible story of how the bird had flown against some wire and killed itself. The state then had the case continued until this morning when such evidence was produced that proved beyond doubt that the bird had been shot by Mr. Yetter.

Taking into consideration the circumstances surrounding the case and the defendant's disposition to commit perjury, the judge fixed the penalty at $250 fine and confiscation of gun and hunting privileges. In default of payment of the fine defendant was lodged in jail.

This closes the case so far as the fish and game commission is concerned, but the district attorney will possibly press the charge of perjury before the circuit court.

It takes more than a wooden boat to produce thoughts that will burn.
